Revised account period: 9-12-12 through 12-6-12 Accounting: $18,834.07 / $993.68 Beginning POH: $18,834.07 Ending POH: $0.00 Conservator: Not requested Attorney: $4,500.00 (for 25 hours at a reduced rate of $180/hr, per itemization) Petitioner states conservatorship was necessary to enable Petitioner to access a 403(b) retirement account that was not transferred into the Conservatee's trust when it was created. American United Life Insurance Company was not satisfied that the Trust, the Advance Health Care Directive, or the Special Power of Attorney could be used to transfer the funds into the trust; therefore conservatorship was necessary. After issuance of letters, the transfer was allowed. The account was never utilized by the conservatorship estate or accessed by Petitioner because funds never became necessary before the Conservatee's death. Petitioner has provided trust account statements as a reference to clarify the status of the accounts. Petitioner requests an order: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Approving, allowing, and settling the account; 2. Terminating the conservatorship; discharging the conservator and the surety on the bond; and 3. Authorizing payment of $4,500.00 to the attorney for legal services to the conservatorship during the account period.

1. The petition filed 7-15-13 had an account period of 6-29-12 through 7-13-13. Examiner Notes previously noted that the accounting was not in compliance with Probate Code §2620(b), which requires a separate accounting for the period after the conservatee's date of death, was not presented on the mandatory Judicial Council forms, and charges and credits did not balance. Further, it was unclear if there was property on hand, as a figure of $17,840.39 was listed, but the petition indicated that there was nothing left in the conservatorship estate, as it did not request any distribution of that amount.

Supplement filed 8-28-13 puts the summary and schedules on the mandatory forms and revises the account to end at DOD (no subsequent period). The summary indicates POH is zero, but charges and credits still do not balance ($18,834.07 / $993.68). In the text, Petitioner explains that the asset – a retirement account – was distributed to the pay on death beneficiary; however, because Petitioner does not include the amount as a credit, and the account still technically does not balance.

Examiner's Note: It appears that if the figure previously provided as POH ($17,840.39) is the same as the amount described as distributed, had been included in the credits summary, the account would balance, given the revised "receipts" figure; however, because that figure is not specifically referenced here, Examiner cannot assume that it is the same.
